Coaching Fundamentals

Coaching Fundamentals

for product leaders and executives

Would you like to...

- empower your employees to make conscious decisions?
- be a more effective sparring partner for your people?
- coach and be coached from day 1 to refine your approach and reflect on your current challenges, relationships and leadership styles?

Then this program is meant for you!

Coaching Fundamentals will help you feel more confident in your role as a product leader while also teaching you the principles of coaching in a condensed and hands-on format.

This program is highly experiential and transformational.

Check out the short video for a more in-depth review of the program.

So far one of the best trainings I did. Great topic, wonderful trainer, great people. Good mix of prep/theory/practice.

This program is really enlightening.. Learning so much about my own behaviour and values.

I love that we are getting really helpful insights on techniques and practices from multiple sources, and a chance to practice them with others in a safe space.

It's a really cool program where you actually learn something that you can use in your work and is not yet another theory that works fine in the books but not in real life.

As a participant, you are constantly challenged to actively participate. This gives you the opportunity to put what you have learned into practice.

I give the program 5 out of 5 stars! The trainer is authentic, open and heartfelt, and I really like the focus on 'practice, practice, practice'.
